SMI HDR Conference 2017

Friday 3 November 2017

UQ Indooroopilly Experimental Mine Site

Innovation and Sustainability in the Resource Environment

UQ's Sustainable Minerals Institute (SMI) is hosting a free one day conference for HDR students to present their research, learn and engage with industry professionals and each other.

All HDR students with an interest in any facet of the resource environment, from geology to land rehabilitation and community engagement, are invited to attend.

Conference highlights include:

- Multi-format presentations
- Industry guest panel discussion
- Food, drinks and a goody bag
- Prizes for the best presentations
- A cocktail party to end the evening!

Courtesy bus provided. For more information on the event, registration or abstract submission visit:
